A DAY TO REMEMBER

We will look back on the Ringmore Diamond Jubilee Street Party as a day to remember. My appreciation, admiration and thanks go to the Committee and all the gallant helpers whom, despite the weather, made this a great Parish event that will be talked about for years to come; especially by the children.

For those who could not hear my preamble over the pounding of the rain on awnings, prior to the Royal Toast. I reflected on my thoughts as a 19 year old serving in the R.A.F. in the desert of Egypt. During my 19 years three Kings had been on the throne. As I stood out in the desert on the day in 1952 that our new Queen was flying over the camps airspace following her father's death, little did I imagine that 60 years on I would be celebrating the Queen's Diamond Jubilee!

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN

Mike Hammond

A big thank you to all parishioners who despite the deluge, came in true Ringmore spirit, armed with scrumptious food and filled the empty space of the tents with a wonderful atmosphere of joy and laughter. I'm sure her Majesty would have been proud!

The evidence of care and hard work was all around us; the beautiful table posies, made by Avril Eaves, Union Jack stones painted by William and Oliver, the terrific cake made by Jackie Tagent, Mike Wynne-Powell, against all the odds, producing a fantastic village photograph and leading us in song. Banners, mugs and tea towels, executed beautifully by the children of the Parish and their artistic directors, Felicity Godwin and Judith Woodings.

The teams of volunteers who provided tents, trimmed hedges, put up bunting, banners, and posters and moved tables and chairs.

Once again a heart felt thanks.

The Ringmore Village Photo Taken on Bank holiday June 5th 2012 being the Queens diamond Jubilee celebrating 60 years of the Queens reign. The Queen celebrated her silver Jubilee in 1977 (25 years) and her golden Jubilee in 2002 (50 Years). If you already have your photo here is the all important identification guide.
If you would like to order a photo Mike would be delighted to hear from you on 01548 810407.

Not quite Baby Bunting
 You may have noticed some rather faded bunting draped along the wall of Barnford for the Diamond Jubilee. Like Barnford, they looked a little shabby, but had pedigree. Someone observed that they needed washing in Dazz or Omo. Comments about their age, however, were much exaggerated. The flags were not made for the coronation of Henry VIII but were first flown across Springfield Road in Swanage for the Queen's coronation in 1953. The more observant may have noticed that the Australian flag appeared to be incorrect, having a red background instead of blue. The reason for this was that Australia did not change to blue until 1954 when apparently there was concern that a red background might lead to a mistaken belief that they had communist leanings. Apologies to any ex-servicemen who felt obliged to salute as they passed the white ensign.
