The census is given in three columns, on both sides of one sheet, as portrayed here, with calculations (in another hand) at the bottom of several of the columns (not transcribed). The 'W' presumably indicates the wife, though in two cases it is evidently misplaced.

FRONDE

he owes to his brother John froude, and to his brother-in-law John Kellye. The will is dated April 5th, in the 24th year of Elizabeth, and was proved at Exeter, May 15th, 1592.

In the other, the father of the preceding testator, Thomas Froude, makes bequests to the poor people of his parish, towards the repairing of the parish church, to his kinswoman Alice Benet, to all his god-children, to Alice Froude, to Dorothy Froude, to John Froude his son, to all his children's children, to Christian Kellye, to his son-in-law James Paine. The will is dated 21st January, in the 37th year of Elizabeth, and was proved at Exeter, 13th January, 1597.

But long before 1592 there was quite a colony of Froudes in the South Hams. Many Devonshire Lay Subsidy Rolls have been preserved, and may be seen at the National Record Office, Fetter Lane, London. From them we learn the names and worldly position of all the principal inhabitants of the several parishes. As a specimen of these invaluable documents, I will give a few parishes in full from a Lay Subsidy Roll of the year 1546, and I will give it in its original Latin, and with all its quaint spelling and other peculiarities. The Roll in question is numbered "Devonshire 33," and it is one of the few that can be described as "in very fine condition."

It would be a precious contribution to genealogical science if all these Lay Subsidy Rolls, for the various Counties, could be printed in full.

The above is a specimen of them. In this one—and in others—we find the following entries relating to the Froudes:

From the above it is clear that Kingston was for many years the head-quarters of the family in the South Hams. Thomas Frowde was evidently well to do. As far as one can judge money was, in the reign of Henry VIII., worth about twenty times as much as it is now. From Kingston, however, the children, or grandchildren, of Thomas Frowde seem to have dispersed to various neighbouring parishes, and for some years there seems to have been no Frowde at Kingston. What may be called the head-quarters of the family seem to have been transferred to Modbury; to be retransferred to Kingston a generation later. The Modbury Parochial Registers commence in 1601. The first years are laden with Frowde entries. From 1601, July 19, to 1652, November 3, there are no fewer than sixty records. Then there is no entry for more than thirty years. After a while they recommence, upon another migration of a chief branch of the family from Kingston. The Kingston Registers do not commence till 1631. They, too, present very numerous entries. In the hundred years, from 1632 to 1732, there are no fewer than a hundred and seventy records.

The following are all the marriage entries from both Registers, together with such of the baptismal, or birth, and burial entries as are necessary to elucidate the course of descent of the principal representatives of the family at the present day:

MODBURY.

* In perusing this and the following extracts, it must be born in mind that previous to the year 1753, the New Year was considered to begin on March 25th. Hence the above baptisms took place in the year 1602, according to our present mode of reckoning. To avoid confusion, however, I have, in every extract, given the year as given in the Registers. But, in compiling the Pedigree Chart, which will be found farther on, I have given the year of each event as such year would be reckoned now.

In addition to the Parochial Registers there are in the Parish Chest at Kingston a series of most interesting Parochial Accounts, including rating and assessment lists, with the names of the estates and farms, and their owners or tenants. In determining the identity of different members of the family these lists have been of the greatest possible service. There are also many Frowde entries in the Ringmore Registers. The Ringmore Registers, however, do not go back beyond the year 1719.

Besides all the sources of information already enumerated there are the Wills preserved in the Probate Registry at Exeter. These are, for genealogical purposes, of the utmost value. The following is a complete list of the Frowde Wills and Administration Bonds preserved or registered, as pertaining to the Archdeaconry of Totnes, down to the year 1782:

- 1533, frowd andreas, Modbury.<sup>1</sup>

 1611, frowde Sidrache, Bigbury, Adm. Bond.
 1620, frowde Robert, Ridsmore, Will.

Dear Barry,

Mrs Pam Magill, family historian of the Frowde family, rang me today and is going to send Ringmore-relevant material to me. I understand she has a lot of family-tree material and also interesting things on houses in Ringmore bought, owned and sold by Frowdes in the past, and also some family wills the archive copies of which were destroyed in WW2.

I think we should send her a complimentary copy of our Buildings booklet. (Please would you do this?) There may be some interesting connections between Ardene's accounts of houses in the book and Pam Magill's title deeds of Ringmore houses and property bequests in wills. I shall copy the material for Ardene as she has expressed an interest in the Frowde family tree, and we will bring all we receive to the next meeting, of course.

Pam Magill (she is a nee Frowde) lives at :
8 Elmwood Close, Glenholt, Plymouth, PL6 7JY

I have suggested she might like to visit Ringmore in the spring. She came a few years ago and took some photos in the churchyard. She also has some quite old photographs of the churchyard. They may be interesting – I don't know how old they are.

It seems that the Frowdes also accounted for a hefty proportion of the populations of Modbury and Kingston...

The men of the family are all very tall, e.g., 6' 4"- 6' 7"; and Pam Magill is 5' 10".

Happy Everything,
Di

For dr diane collinson

My wife mrs jill frowde was given a book at her work in halifax the other day as her surname was spotted. I'm not sure if that was you.

Thank you. We already knew of the 2 graves by the church door and have photos with our kids, etc

I did not know of the other frowdes.

I knew there are graves at Modbury church and I think the carpenter ( who built the stocks ) was our relation although possibly spelt slightly differently. He lived at Galloping Street ( now Galpin Street )

There is a Knight John Frowde in Bath Abbey

However I have passed the book on to our family historian Mrs Pamela Magill 8 Elmwood Close Glenholt Plymouth PL6 7JY who I hope will contact you as she has a book sized volume of our history.

The family seems split between London and the South Hams and I thought we came down here to avoid the plague in 1665 better to get the info from pamela.

As my father had 2 brothers and 7 sisters there are plenty of frowde relations around

Any problems or questions, please come back.

Anthony frowde

Di,

I mentioned to you last night after your wonderful presentation of Francis Hingeston-Randolf, that I had spoken to a lady at the Halifax in Plymouth, who on noting my address said "oh! My family come from Ringmore, they moved there after the Great Fire of London".

I spoke to the person this morning while I was in Plymouth, her name is Jill Frowde and her husband is the direct descendant of the Frowdes of Ringmore,

I gave her a copy of "All Hallows, The Churchyard and Monuments by Jacqueline Patterson" since many (48) of their ancestors are recorded or buried in the churchyard. I also took the liberty of giving her your email and telephone number and suggested that you would be interested to speak to her husband especially if they had any old photos or archive material of the family or village. Their name does not seem to appear in any of our contemporary reports and their family dates of death appear to range from 1608 to 1858, just before Francis Hingeston-Randolf arrived.

I hope that this helpful

Dear Richard,

Two things to tell you about. First, I heard yesterday evening from Tony Frowde – an email. He has given me the address of his 'family historian', and has also given her my address, so I'm hoping I'll soon be in touch with her. Tony thinks it is better done via her (she has all the papers) but also said I should get back to him any time I wanted to. It will be very interesting to learn more about this family. If the information is detailed it should also give us an insight into years of Ringmore's social history of which we know almost nothing at present. Thank you very much for making the contact.

Second, we had a discussion yesterday at the RHS committee meeting about the idea of a Ringmore website. No one was against the idea, and 2 or 3 were enthusiastic.

There were (a) a few reservations and questions about the possible nature and content of the site and (b) some differing views on the extent to which the RHS might contribute to it. At the same time, it was clear that no one wished the society to be excluded from or have nothing to do with a village website.

I think I can sum up the committee's view by saying that there is a friendly and lively interest in the project and that the society is keen to hear in due course how it might be developed and made available for participation.

Thank you again.

With kind regards,

DI

he owes to his brother John frowde, and to his brother-in-law John Kellye. The will is dated April 5th, in the 24th year of Elizabeth, and was proved at Exeter, May 15th, 1592.

In the other, the father of the preceding testator, Thomas Froude, makes bequests to the poor people of his parish, towards the repairing of the parish church, to his kinswoman Alice Benet, to all his god-children, to Alice Froude, to Dorothy Froude, to John Froude his son, to all his children's children, to Christina Kellye, to his son-in-law James Paine. The will is dated 21st January, in the 37th year of Elizabeth, and was proved at Exeter, 13th January, 1597.

But long before 1592 there was quite a colony of Froudes in the South Hams. Many Devonshire Lay Subsidy Rolls have been preserved, and may be seen at the National Record Office, Fetter Lane, London. From them we learn the names and worldly position of all the principal inhabitants of the several parishes. As a specimen of these invaluable documents, I will give a few parishes in full from a Lay Subsidy Roll of the year 1546, and I will give it in its original Latin, and with all its quaint spelling and other peculiarities. The Roll in question is numbered "Devonshire 2<sup>o</sup>," and it is one of the few that can be described as "in very fine condition."

It would be a precious contribution to genealogical science if all these Lay Subsidy Rolls, for the various Counties, could be printed in full.

The above is a specimen of them. In this one—and in others—we find the following entries relating to the Froudes:
